LIES

This manuscript is given to the Labadie Collection on the following terms: Terms are identical with those of the Deed of Gift agreement signed by Theodore John Kaczynski on July 10, 1999 and by William A. Gosling on July 27, 1999, except that the Labadie Collection does not have the right to publish, or to give or sell to anyone else the right to publish, all or any part of this manuscript.

even the silliest of lies can win credibility working in Florida, where he/she had plied his/her trade earlier in his/her career. On the excuse that he/she and co-workers were out of cash, he/she filled out certain false vouchers. He/she was caught, and to avoid serving a two-year prison sentence made a bargain according to which he/she agreed to work on no more Florida death cases.

EARLY IN February, 1998 I asked Investigator #2 whether he/she could find out if my brother had been in contact with his friends between the time of my arrest (April 3, 1996) and the time when they were interviewed by the investigators (December 7-10, 1996; May 11, June 10, and June 25, 1997; see (Qb) Written Investigator Reports #32, Dirk West, #33, Bill Wadham and Sally Baker, #122, Joel Schwartz). In reply, Investigator #2 sent me a note that said, "Dave did not call." That was the entire note. See (Qe) Investigator Note #5.

At the time, I had plenty of other things on my mind, so I just assumed that my brother had not been in contact with his friends before they were interviewed, and filed that information in the back of my mind. But after learning how dishonest Investigator #2 had been with me I took the trouble to reflect on this matter, and it seemed to me implausible that eight months or more could have passed without any written communication between my brother and these people who had been his close friends for many years. I would have expected them to contact him soon after they had learned of my arrest, and then certainly they would have talked about me with him.

Subsequently I noticed solid evidence that at least one of these people did indeed talk with my brother about me after my arrest but before being interviewed by the investigators. (Qb) Written Investigator Report #122, Joel Schwartz, May 11, 1997, p.4: "Ted wrote Dave letters about Joel.... Since Ted's arrest, Joel and Dave have talked about those letters."

Joel Schwartz, Dirk West, Bill Wadham and Sally Baker all gave the investigators wildly inaccurate reports in which they portrayed me as suffering from severe mental illness. When I wrote the Introduction to this book I attributed their errors to such factors as "media planting." But another explanation now seems possible: My brother may have been in communication not only with Joel Schwartz but with the others as well, and may have asked them to help him "save" me by portraying me as mentally ill.

It's also possible that Investigator #2 and his/her people may have used leading questions to elicit the kinds of answers they wanted from informants. This is perhaps suggested by informants' responses that include the phrase "may have." E.g., (Qb) Written Investigator Report #73, Phil Alman, p.3: "There may have been times when Ted was unresponsive to questions." It doesn't seem likely that Phil Alman would have made this statement spontaneously. It's more plausible to suppose that he was asked, "were there times when Ted was unresponsive to questions?" and answered, "There may have been."

again, where the investigators record statements by informants that would undermine their credibility as witnesses to my "insanity"; these statements can be presumed to be accurately transcribed.

In reference to the attitudes that my brother and the Wadham-Bakers's held toward me at the time of Richard's suicide, it may be worthwhile to quote also another letter of my brother's. At some point during 1984, knowing that my brother was going to visit Bill and Sally, I sent him in care of them three cartoons that I had drawn, with some humorous commentary in Spanish. In reply Dave wrote me (Ca) FL #289, Summer, 1984, pp. 2-4.

"I ended up having to translate your long letter [It was] well worth it in light of the jokes which dawned on us in the process. I gathered that in your historiography of boasts there was somewhat of a serious message as well. Your humor is so inventive and so highly original that I never cease to marvel at it, while at the same time finding it a pity that it's restricted to such a small audience. You asked me once whether [Bill] and [Sally] are in any way capable of being offended by coarse humor. Now I can tell you that [Bill] enjoyed the two cartoons which might have been considered coarse immensely, whereas [Sally's] reaction seemed rather complicated. . . . [S]he pointed out some very artful touches in your cartoons. And I found myself very much in agreement with her. Have you ever thought of trying to sell your cartoons to magazines? . . . I honestly and I believe without bias find your cartoons on the average the most interesting I've ever seen."

This does not contradict in any specific way what Bill and Sally told the investigators about me, but it doesn't comport very well with the image of me that they conveyed.

(Ca) FL #220, letter from me to David Kaczynski, August 28, 1979, p.2

"[Bill] sent me a copy of a 'Red Sonja' comic book (footnote: *An absurd female hero.), asserting that 'to imaginative minds it drips of philosophical lessons.'

"In reply I sent him [mimicking Nietzsche's style]:

"'I have no time to listen to thy teaching, Zarathustra,' said the small man, 'For I must mow my lawn and tend my melons. I have no time to listen to prophesies. I have no time to be an arrow of longing for the farther shore.' (footnote: [Bill] wrote that he would read some Nietzsche [sic], except that he had no time cause he was too busy mowing his lawn, tending [melons; the rest of this footnote is cut off on the photocopy that I have.]")

"'How then,' answered Zarathustra, 'hast thou time to read the book of a naked harlot pretending to be a hero? Knowest thou not that a dark cloud hangs over men and that even now are falling one by one the heavy drops that herald the lighting? What then signify thy lawnmower and thy melons? Verily, thou art become as the last man.' Thus spake Zarathustra.—Nietzsche [sic], Zarathustra, part 5." (The footnotes were in the original letter. According to Nietzsche, the "last man" is a despicable and degenerate human type.) This is a sample of the way I used to tease Bill about his comic-book philosophy. I intended the teasing to be gentle and humorous, but it may be that I wounded Bill without realiz-

At some point during 1984, knowing that my brother was going to visit Bill and Sally, I sent him in care of them three cartoons that I had drawn, with some humorous commentary in Spanish. In reply Dave wrote a letter in which he professes to "marvel" at my "inventive" and "highly original" humor.  27. (Ha) NY Times Nat., May 26, 1996, p. 22, column 3. The Times quoted only an "aunt" who preferred to remain anonymous, but the aunt in question is obviously Josephine. I have just four living aunts: Sylvia, Madeline (aunts by marriage), Freda, and Josephine. Sylvia married my uncle Benny when I was in my teens, and I'd never met her before that time; I was never chummy enough with Madeline to "snuggle up" to her; and Freda informed me in (Cb) FL Supplementary item #6, letter from Freda Tuominen to me, July 20, 1996, that she was not the unnamed aunt quoted by the Times (which I already knew from the content of the quotations). So that leaves Josephine.

 31. (Ha) NY Times Nat., May 26, 1996, p. 22, column 3. In this same column we find: "David said his parents told him about how his father, grandmother and Teddy had gone to the hospital after his birth. . . . 'So my father and grandmother left Ted in the lobby and went up to visit me,' he said, 'When they all went down to the lobby . . . he was sitting there alone in tears and very deeply upset.'" I don't remember any such incident, and I doubt that it happened. My brother is very prone to get his facts garbled.
 32. (Ac) Autobiog of TJK 1979, pp. 17, 18.
 33. (Ca) FL #266, letter from me to David Kaczynski, Summer, 1982, pp. 5, 6. I described the dream in nearly identical terms in (Ac) Autobiog of TJK 1979, pp. 17, 18, and added that "I felt a sense of pity and love toward my brother . . ."
- Characteristically, my brother got the dream garbled in the 1986 letter of his that we quoted earlier: ~~"When you saw the murdered babies in the Nazi camp . . . When you vowed to protect me at the expense of your own life . . ."~~ (See Note 30 above.) Compare this with the correct account of the dream. Later we will see other instances in which my brother has gotten his facts garbled.
34. This letter has not been preserved, and I am relying here on memory and on the 1986 letter in which I mentioned the remark about "great hatred." See Note 29 above.

(Ca) FL #423, letter from me to my mother, January 15, 1991, pp. 4, 5: "I always felt you were a good mother to me during my early years. It was when I was around 8 years old that your behavior and the family atmosphere began to deteriorate, and it was during my teens that I was subjected to constant, cutting insults such as imputations of immaturity or mental illness." My photocopy of the copy of this letter that I mailed to my mother is illegible in places. Therefore, for one line of the foregoing quotation I had to refer to p. 2 of the copy of this letter that I kept in my cabin.

For confirmation see (Ca) FL #458, letter from me to my mother, July 5, 1991, p. 9. (Ab) Autobiog of TJK 1959, p. 5, has: "My relationship with my parents used to be generally affec-

- TJK, U. Chi., September 21, 1956, pp. 69-71. The "large, heavy boy" referred to was Junior Huff. When investigators working on my case tried to track him down, they found that his last known address was a transient hotel.

 20. Several former students at Evergreen Park Community High School who were interviewed by investigators confirmed that academically-oriented kids were harassed and insulted. These included Greg Davis. (Qb) Written Investigator Report #28, pp. 1-3; Roger Podewell (Qb) Written Investigator Report #104, pp. 1, 2; Wayne Tr. (Qb) Written Investigator Report #142, p. 3. As I've indicated in the Introduction, information reported to investigators about decades-old events has often proved wildly inaccurate, especially when (as in this case) there have been media reports that may have influenced it. However, Greg Davis's reports of bitter personal experiences should probably be given weight as showing the existence of harassment, even though there is no way of knowing whether the reports are accurate in detail.
 21. (Ac) Autobiog of TJK 1979, pp. 40-42, 47; (Ca) FL #329, letter from me to David Kaczynski, March 15, 1986, p. 2; (Ad) Autobiog of TJK 1988, p. 3; (Ca) FL #458, letter from me to my mother, July 5, 1991, pp. 5-8, 12; (Da) Ralph Meister's Declaration, p. 3, paragraph 9 states: "At...times, Wanda lost control and verbally abused him." Further documentation will be given in Chapter 4.

Some people seem to think that only physical and sexual abuse constitute real abuse and that verbal, psychological, and emotional abuse are relatively insignificant. I've been corresponding with a young woman who for years was subjected to sexual abuse by her stepfather, so that no one will deny that she knows what real abuse is. Later, in adult life, she was subjected to verbal and psychological abuse by her husband, and here is what she wrote to me about it in a letter dated November 23, 1998:

"You asked me on the phone Sunday, if I had ever broken down—Did you mean if I had ever succumbed psychologically, i.e., had a 'breakdown' on account of the verbal/psychological abuse? I know that I have broken into sweats, felt horribly nervous, and have felt my pulse racing, etc. However, the most prominent/unnerving of all feelings, is the intense, as well as uncontrollable anger I have felt toward him. I have also cried—if not hysterically, then as if I might never stop. The abuse has done something to me Theodore; it has made me prone to horrible anger. . . ."

(This letter is not covered in the Notes on Documents, since it had not even been written when those notes were prepared.)

22. During October or November of 1996, Investigator #3 told me that Dr. K. had told him that my brother had told her that my mother would have outbursts of rage during which her face would become red and contorted and she would make angry gestures that frightened my brother. It is true that my mother did have such outbursts, but I am relying on memory for the fact that Investigator #3 made this statement to me, since I did not write it down at the time.

On August 14, 1997, I asked Dr. K. to confirm this, and what she gave me then was a weaker version: "K asked, what did you see when [your mother] was angry? [Dave] said: Change of color in her face, her speech became quicker, she might make sudden movements. K asked what he meant. He said she would shake her hands and stomp her foot. As a child he felt that it felt close to feeling Therefore I cannot be certain that my description of his personality and motives has been accurate."

Doubtless many of the "voting alumni" were of an older generation—but so was Finley.

By the way, when I quote conversations that took place decades ago but were not recorded in writing at the time, I of course do not claim to be reproducing them with word-for-word accuracy. But I do not invent dialogue unless I am confident that it accurately reflects the substance of what was said.

Piranian urged me to prove (a) that every continuous function in the disk admits a family of disjoint arcs, and to deduce from this (b) that every boundary function for a continuous function can be made into a function of the first Baire class by changing its values on at most a countable set. (The terminology is explained in F. Bagemihl and G. Piranian, "Boundary Functions for Functions Defined in a Disk," Michigan Mathematical Journal, 8 (1961), pp. 201-207.)

I maintained that it would be much easier to prove (b) by examining inverse-image sets, and I even suggested that (b) might then be used to prove (a). And that's how it turned out. I did prove (b) within three months or so by using inverse-image sets. The proof of (a) was vastly more difficult. I didn't succeed in proving (a) until two decades later, and I had to use (b) in order to do it. The proof of (a) has not been published.

The only reason you got into Harvard was because Harvard needed more students from your region of the country.' " This was certainly a heartless thing to say, however true it may have been.
9. When I was teaching at Michigan and later at Berkeley, I always wore a suit and tie myself on days when I had to teach, but never at other times. I was being paid to teach, and I felt it was part of what I was being paid for to wear clothes that would encourage an appropriate atmosphere in the classroom. Besides, I was so young-looking that I was afraid the students might not take me seriously as a teacher if I didn't dress the part.

Appendix 12 |

My brother is prone to get his facts garbled. Here are a few examples.

In one letter to Dave I mentioned Aztec poetry but did not quote any; I did quote some ancient Irish poetry, which I identified as Irish. But my brother got mixed up and thought I was quoting Aztec poetry. See (Ca) FL #275, letter from me to David Kaczynski, August 27, 1983, p. 5.

My brother once told me — quite incorrectly — that Costa Rica was an English-speaking country. See (Ca) FL #220, letter from me to David Kaczynski, August 28, 1979, p. 1.

Through misunderstanding of something he'd read in a book, my brother believed that baking soda (sodium bicarbonate) underwent a chemical change during cooking that rendered it harmless as far as any effect on blood-pressure was concerned — which of course is false. He also confused baking powder with baking soda. See (Ca) FL #288, letter from me to David Kaczynski, Summer, 1984, p. 3; FL #289, letter from David Kaczynski to me, Summer, 1984, pp. 1, 2.

Dave told the FBI that our paternal grandfather, Jakub Kaczynski, had been a woodcarver by trade. It's possible that he may have done some wood-carving on the side, but he was by trade a gilder (a worker in gold-leaf), not a wood carver. My brother told William Finnegan of the New Yorker about a back-packing trip he'd taken with me that had lasted, he said, "a couple of weeks." From his description of the trip, it's clear he was referring to one that we took in early August of 1973. That trip lasted not "a couple of weeks" but only three days, and it was the longest back-packing trip I ever took with Dave. (In back-packing, as in everything else, he has little staying-power; he gets tired or bored and wants to go home.) See New Yorker, March 16, 1998, p. 63; (Ba) Journals of TJK, Series III #4, pp. 8, 9, August 5, 1973.

"My interference in the case of Linda E_____ had nothing to do with sexual repression. If you wanted to go f__k some broad I couldn't care less, though I might wish you would choose someone more worthy than Linda E. What I was afraid of was that you would make a fool of yourself and be exploited, and by someone (Linda E.) whom I found thoroughly contemptible. What it looked like to me was that

(a) you were sexually attracted to Linda E. (your letter seems to confirm this) (b) your attraction was not just physical lust — I thought you might be in danger of falling in love with her (c) I found her thoroughly contemptible (d) I suspected that she had little or no sexual interest in you but that (e) she might be using you as a shoulder to cry on, and (f) I thought there might be a risk that she would exploit you by getting you to marry her, not because she loved you or anything like that, but because she simply wanted [to make her position respectable].*

"I must admit though that my motive for interfering was partly selfish — I would have felt [it]* as a kind of personal humiliation for my brother to be exploited in that way or to marry someone so contemptible."

37(Ca) FL#248, letter from me to David Kaczynski, late summer or fall of 1981, p. 4: "You recall that letter in which I suggested to our parents that they should discourage you from getting close to Linda E_____. I wrote to this effect: 'Dave may claim his interest in Linda E_____ is purely platonic but . . . [citing evidence to the contrary].' You wrote me 2 letters on this, the first very angry, and the second apologetic." The three dots and the words in brackets are in the original as I wrote it to Dave in 1982.

This material is quoted from the copy of the letter that was mailed to my brother, except that, in a few places, illegibility of or FBI tampering with (the Xerox copy of) the mailed copy forced me to refer to the copy kept in the cabin in order to fill in gaps.

42♂'s stealing is mentioned in (Ca) FL#209, letter from me to my parents, February 4, 1978, p. 2. ♂ in effect admitted theft to me in 1971 or 1972, and I and my brother both saw him steal a piece of candy (a 2¢ mint patty) in a restaurant in Great Falls in 1971 or 1972.
